As masters of the third dimension you have dominion over its energies of form and creation. You can, through your thoughts and voice, say what you wish and it is done. While you may not be able to see the energies moving or have doubt that your voice has been heard, the movement is created as soon as you begin the process. It is your doubts and fears that create blocks in the energy flow so claim your manifestation as being done, completed, final and in your reality as soon as you desire it.

There is no waiting in the Universe, as the energy is never blocked or stuck. That is part of human thinking. When you step into the energy flow, which is miracle creation, it is done in the heavens and then begins to manifest on earth. If you claim it, you ground the energy on earth. If not, you are expressing your lack of faith and doubt, the tests you create for yourself, that delay its movement. The energy serves you, it works in a co-creative partnership with you. Its function is to fulfill your earthly creations. You have forgotten your partnership with the energy that serves you and instead of using your free will to assist creation, you use it to delay and confuse. You have forgotten your ability to claim creation through your thoughts and words.

Your desire moves the energy and your intention sets its form. Without intention, desire is simply a heart-felt wish that creates an awareness of your dreams without the belief that they can manifest. When you set your intention for their manifestation, the Universal energy has the form it requires to begin fulfillment of what you have asked for. But without focus and belief, even intention has no power to create because it is with your belief in your own power that you move the energy. When you see everything as done and claim it as so, you remove doubt and stand firmly in your power as co-creator of everything around you.

Every occurrence of unfulfilled dreams reflects your free will's belief that you are powerless and is an example of separation. With connection there is no pause in the movement from desire to manifestation, from the movement of energy from one place to the next. The Universe remembers you in spirit, as powerful and it responds to you in all ways. Claim your creation, dominion, abundance and joy because they are yours by divine right. Being patient is your acknowledgment of the powerful transformation that is occurring in heaven and on earth because you made it so. Claim all as done and ground your intention with conviction, faith and trust that all is well and in divine order. Claim all as done and so it is.
